Food Assistance Programs for Seniors

Good nutrition is vital for older adults and is important in the management of certain health conditions common in later life. For seniors on fixed incomes or who have financial constraints, or who find it difficult to make it to the grocery store or prepare nutritious meals because of physical limitations or lack of transportation, getting the nutrition they need can be a challenge. Fortunately for these Nebraskans, the state has a number of food assistance programs specifically designed to help seniors obtain the nutrition they need at the lowest cost and with the least effort. These programs include Meals on Wheels, food pantries and government assistance programs.

Meals on Wheels

Meals on Wheels provide home-delivered fresh, nutritious meals to seniors throughout their service area, helping combat both hunger and loneliness. Each Meals on Wheels office determines its own delivery schedule and menu. The typical eligibility requirements for assistance from Meals on Wheels include advanced age, difficulty obtaining ingredients and preparing meals due to physical or mental limitations, unable to attend a senior center, lack of cooking supplies or equipment, lack of support from a spouse or family members, and the willingness to undergo periodic assessments of needs.
