Food Assistance Programs for Seniors

Good nutrition is important for all seniors, and there are many factors that can make it difficult for older adults to take in adequate amounts of nutritious food. Some older adults have digestive issues that make it harder for them to absorb nutrients from their meals. Others lose their appetites as they get older or struggle to shop and cook for themselves. The following organizations help seniors access nutritious foods so they can stay fit and healthy.

Meals on Wheels

The Meals on Wheels program delivers nutritious, freshly prepared meals to seniors across the state, and each county has its own Meals on Wheels program. Trained drivers deliver the meals and also perform wellness checks, giving the seniors regular social contact and helping them live independently and safely in their own homes for as long as possible.
